Here's The Trailer For "Broke Straight Boys" The Reality TV Show

Jul 08, 2014 | Posted by Vincent Thrice in TV/Movies

Depending upon where you stand on "Broke Straight Boys," this first look at the upcoming reality show based on the popular site will either be a godsend, or further proof that the apocalypse is nigh. The trailer comes to us courtesy of the Broke Straight Boys YouTube channel, who describe the show thusly...

A peek at the Broke Straight Boys Reality Show is here! Prepare yourself for one of the most unique series ever made for television. Its polarizing content and its visceral effect on viewers is undeniable. Without apology, this series provides an uncensored look into the lives of people who make porn... and more specifically, straight men who do gay porn and the multi-million dollar company that provides the platform.

Though no explicit porn is shown in the series, the mere suggestion of what they do and the insight into their chosen profession makes Broke Straight Boys a true character study, bringing the viewer into a world they may not have known existed and will surely never forget.

Either way, should be interesting television.
